

Home / Article / What's Hot / Retail Trends / How brands are incorporating sustainability factor in their supply chains

RETAIL & BUSINESS | MARCH 23, 2022 | 8 MIN READ

How Brands are Incorporating Sustainability Factor in their Supply Chains

Brands have realized that focusing on sustainability is a critical part of the modern supply chain by locating and arranging warehouses and fulfillment centers at the nearest location to optimize travel time and resources.

Dr Yashu Sharma
Assistant Professor – Retail and Marketing, Birla Institute Of Management Technology

There is a huge shift that has been observed in the brand's world as the industry is switching to a non-retailer-based model and incorporating D2C models in their

Download White Paper

Brand Planning

Waiting for fundingchoicesmessages.google.com...