

Home / Article / D2C New Commerce / Perspectives / Warehouse management and supply chain logistics for D2C brands

Warehouse Management and Supply Chain Logistics for D2C Brands

The backbone of any retail business is, its efficient supply chain management, and managing the same is a daunting task.

Dr Veenu Sharma
Assistant Professor - Retail and Marketing, Birla Institute Of Management Technology

D2C is becoming an attractive option as it presents a unique opportunity for building the relationship between consumer and brand. In the past few years, there has been a significant surge in D2C brands as an innovative marketing strategy that enables the brand to enter the market directly.

In the future of customer experience, its supported by Great Experience you need.